Working in Luxembourg as an EU citizen

All European Union (EU) citizens enjoy freedom of movement within the EU, giving them the right to work and reside in any EU Member State, subject to certain conditions.

Nationals of the other Contracting Parties of the European Economic Area Agreement (Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein) and the Swiss Confederation are treated as EU citizens.

EU citizens have the right to reside in another Member State if they are:

- employees;
- self-employed workers;
- non-working persons with proof of sufficient financial means of subsistence;
- students registered in approved public or private education establishments in Luxembourg;
- family members (who are also EU citizens) of an EU citizen.

Good to know:

Third-country nationals who are family members of an EU citizen or Luxembourg national may stay in Luxembourg provided that they are effectively considered to be a family member and after having performed certain formalities.

Preliminary steps

EU citizens wishing to stay for more than 90 days must declare their arrival and register at their new commune of residence.

If the various documents required by the commune are not in German, French or English, a certified true translation by a sworn translator must be attached.

1. Entering Luxembourg: Declaration of arrival

Within 8 days of their arrival in Luxembourg, EU citizens must make a declaration of arrival at the administration of the commune where they intend to establish residence, and present:

- a valid national identity card or passport;
- a family record book or a certificate of marriage or partnership;
- the children's birth certificates.
- family members (who are also EU citizens) of an EU citizen.

2. Following entry into the country: Registration certificate

Within 3 months from arriving in Luxembourg, the EU national has to fill in a registration certificate. It must necessarily be completed at the communal administration of the place of residence.

After having legally resided in Luxembourg for an uninterrupted period of 5 years, nationals of an EU Member State (or of a country treated as such) and members of their family who are also EU citizens (or of a country treated as such) have the permanent right to reside and may submit a permanent residence permit application to the Immigration Directorate of the Ministry of Foreign and European Affairs.
